UMWC, Hawaii is the toughest and most enduring triathlon event on this planet. It is a three-day race event and the participant have to complete a circuit 515 Kms which comprises of 10km swim (in rough waters of pacific ocean), 421 km Bicycling (with Vertical climbs total 5,600 feet on day 1 and 13,700 feet on Day2 through volcanos) and, 84km Run (through hot lava fields). The participation is by invite only and the selection process is based on the participants past accomplishments in various triathlon events like IronMan and UltraMan. This year they have qualified 40 athletes all over the world.

To know more about the 2018 course follow this link : <http://ultramanworlds.com/course/> Every day they have a cut off span of 12 hours.
